BRATTON AND MAULIFFE FIGHT TEN ROUNDS TO DRAW AT AIRDOME THEATER

The first boxing tournament to be put on by the reorganized Tonopah business Men's Athletic club attracted a big crowd to the Airdome last evening. The theater had recently been roofed and a heating plant installed, so that the audience enjoyed the contests in comfort.

The Preliminary

President Harry Grier officiated as announcer and Harry King tickled the song, which is one job that he can hold down without it springing up on him and smiting him in the small of the back. Grier, who was there with his voice, his strongest characteristic, and as for the referee, gosh, who doesn't know B. P. Sufuy, the non-pariel kid? This galaxy would have made the show worth the price of admission if it hadn't been any fight at all. Dave Aspland was an unadvised attraction, as well as nine or eleven big mining magnates, who celebrated after the show. It was one salubrious prize fight and everybody had a whale of a time, awakening this morning with tired throats from much yelling and inflamed palms from hand clapping.

Round 1—Mathews rushes Wagner to ropes. No damage. Both mix it good.

Round 2—Wagner right and left to jaw and misses. Mathews two hard ones to wind.

Round 3—Both miss. W.D. swings left short. Mathews hits right and left to wind and left to face.

Round 4—Wagner to face and wind. Mathews jabs in face. Wagner seems wild, swinging aimlessly.

Round 5—Wagner hard to wind and light to face. Mathews to wind and hard left and right to jaw.

The Main Event
Bratton enters ring first and is given hearty reception. McAuliffe also accorded greeting.

Round 1—McAuliffe to face twice. Bratton right to face, left to wind. Bratton right and left to face and right to head. Clinch.

Round 2—Bratton rushes McAuliffe to ropes. Left and right to face and stomach. Eddie misses hard swing and Bratton two to face. McAuliffe three hard jabs to face.

Round 3—Both exchange to wind. Eddie keeps jabbing to wind. Both slug to wind.

Round 4—Both jab to wind. Eddie misses uppercut. Bratton hard to wind. McAuliffe crouches. Hits left to jaw.

Round 5—Bratton to heart. Eddie misses straight blow. Eddie hits to

WITH REFERENCE TO MODERN AIRCRAFT

Owing to atmospheric conditions at certain altitudes this was by no means a success and was discontinued.

One may repeat, however, that with out aircraft that can stay up all night and leave landing until daylight and that climb 10,000 feet in about 15 minutes, there is no effective counter to the Zeppelin.

I only write this letter to disabuse people's minds and present to them a few facts not contaminated with the masculine bovine which is so common to some people when writing an article to "fill."

Yours truly,
(DR.) A. MORGAN-OWEN.

jaws and the cakewalk starts. Both are tired.

Round 6—Eddie hits to wind and Bratton to heart. McAuliffe hits hard to mouth and draws blood. Right and left to jaw.

Round 7—McAuliffe hits to jaw and Bratton to heart. Bratton tries to land, but McAuliffe crouches and stalls.

Round 8—Eddie to face hard. Bratton fights for wind. Both heavy to jaw and wind. McAuliffe hard right and left to jaw, dazing Bratton.

Round 9—Bratton to jaw and Eddie crouches. Eddie to wind. Both exhausted.

Round 10—Eddie three in succession to jaw and clinch. Right to jaw and left to stomach. Bratton dazed, but comes back. McAuliffe twice to jaw. Bratton hard right to jaw and left to wind.

Referee holds up right hands of both fighters.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

Tonight's program at the Butler will consist of a six-reel Essanay production entitled "The Blindness of Virtue," a startling moral play, and the most widely criticised play of its type.

Many sermons have been preached and many articles written endorsing the moral of this picture. The picture, which is featured by Edna Mayo and Bryant Washburn, deals with the greatest duty of motherhood—to protect daughters from the pitfalls of ignorance by informing them of the important functions of womanhood.

It is a picture for the girl of 15 and her mother. It teaches the lesson that every girl must learn. The play has been adapted by the Essanay company from the English play which stirred the country. Mr. Morris, whose name is a power in the world of amusements, took this play as a drama on the speaking stage, with but eight people in the cast, to Chicago for a run of twenty weeks, and at $1 admission the production played to a weekly business of $7000.

The preliminary reel will be Charlie Chaplin in a one-reel comedy. Charlie is a great favorite with all the youngsters, as well as a good many grown-ups, but we have to provide amusement for the youngsters at any cost, for they are the "real boosters."

Tomorrow, "May Blossom," David Belasco's celebrated stage success, which is really his first great hit, being one of the first great dramas that ran in New York in one theater for more than a year, a record in those days nothing short of phenomenal.

NEVADA FILM COMPANY CONTEST IS DEVELOPING INTO A MERRY COMPETITION

The contest inaugurated by the Nevada Film company through the Bonanza is beginning to assume some proportions and they are growing daily. While the two leading contestants have a big advantage over the others, it is not assured that it will continue, for there are rumors that a big block of votes is in hiding to be thrown in within a few days. The Bonanza originally planned to change the date on its coupons once a week, but this is what has caused the reservations, together with uncertainties. Now the date will be changed daily, although the coupons dated the 17th will, of course, be honored.

Following was the standing of the contestants this morning:

Isabel Davis 29,700

Eleanor Malone 12,500

Edna Sullivan 4,100

Frances Hickok 2,050

Addie Murphy 1,000

Louise Parker 300
